WELLNOW URGENT CARE NOW PROVIDING SAME AND NEXT DAY RESULTS FOR COVID-19 PCR TESTS

Faster turnaround time for highly accurate PCR results allows more flexibility to travel, return to in-person work and school and more.

CHICAGO, IL — WellNow Urgent Care, one of the country's fastest-growing urgent care providers, announced that its centers in New York will now provide patients with the results of their COVID-19 PCR tests within twenty-four hours —results that are widely accepted as travel documentation. This is a significantly faster turnaround time than the industry average, which typically requires 2-4 days for test results to be processed by an outside laboratory. No appointment is necessary, although patients can check testing times to receive their results the same day and book their test online.

"PCR testing is the gold standard of COVID-19 testing due to its sensitivity and accuracy," said John Radford, M.D., President at WellNow Urgent Care. "As pandemic restrictions begin to ease and more people are traveling, returning to in-person work and school, and resuming events like weddings and live music, having access to PCR results within twenty-four hours is a gamechanger for patients eager to return to normal activities."

COVID-19 PCR tests collected at all WellNow's centers in New York will now be processed at WellNow's in-house lab, reducing the timeline between when a patient is tested and when the results become available. Patients in need of COVID-19 testing can walk into their nearest center, no appointment necessary, or schedule a visit online.
